RECONSTRUCTING C. M. BOWER HOME

Schuylerville, Aug. 16.—The rebuilding of the house at the corner of Chestnut and Burgoyne streets, which was for years a tenement house, is nearing completion. C. M. Bower, who is reconstructing the property, expects to occupy the premises. Mr. Bower and family live next door and the owner of both properties has painted the home in which he resides.

The rebuild building is an attractive structure with light, airy rooms overlooking the Hudson. Up-to-date plumbing and lighting fixtures will be installed. There is a commodious cellar in which the laundry is situated. Mr. Bower, who is a contractor with the firm of Bower and Closson, has worked on the rebuilt building at odd times. A large porch is in front of the place and there is ample room for lawn and garden. The old building was an eye sore to the public for a long time, so that the new one will add greatly to the beauty of one of the village's main thoroughfares, situated as it is among attractive residences on the state highway leading to the Saratoga Battle Monument.

THREE SEEKING SHERIFF'S JOB

Greenwich, Aug. 16—Interest in Washington county politics so far this season seems to be confined to the Republican nomination for sheriff, for which office N. Austin Baker of Salem, is the organization candidate. There are as yet no signs that there will be contests for any of the other county offices, but for sheriff there apears to be two other candidates beside Mr. Baker. George W. Randles of Greenwich, now a deputy sheriff, threw his hat into the ring months ago and has been building up what his friends predict will prove a formidable organization on primary day. Bert Austin of Mr. Baker's own town, Salem, is an active candidate for the nomination. Mr. Austin held the office of sheriff more than seventeen years ago. He is a farmer and is well known throughout the eastern side of the county.

FEAR FOR RICE, EXPLORER, AND WIFE IN BRAZIL

New York, Aug. 16—Because of the rumors of a fresh revolutionary outbreak in the state of Amazonas, Brazil, and the total censorship maintained by the Brazilian government, which hinders authoritative news from coming out of that district, some anxiety is felt by friends here for the safety of Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice, noted American explorer and his wife, the former Mrs. George D. Widener, wealthy society woman, who are known to be in that region.

George D. Widener, son of Mrs. Rice, has asked the State department at Washington to learn if possible, if the party has arrived at Manaos.

Can a husband hide the life he leads away from home? Can a husband love others—but love his wife the most? Can happiness be where a mother's smile hide a father's indiscretions from the four children they love?

Only a drama as poignant, as beautiful, as searchingly truthful as this, could answer so vital a problem.

ANNA MAY WONG AND JULANNE JOHNSTON
In a Scene From "The Thief of Bagdad" at Convention Hall Commencing Tomorrow.

Douglas Fairbanks in "The Thief of Bagdad" is having its presentation in this city at Convention Hall where it will be shown twice daily beginning tomorrow (Sunday) evening. It is significant that those interested in this new Fairbank picture have not resorted to the use of adjectives that have become nauseating to moving picture devotees, such phrases as the "super-picture," "super-special," "classical masterpiece of filmdom," "superlative achievement of ultra-supremacy," "the world's first example of artistic perfection" and all that sort of a thing. Here is a picture that does not call for sesqipedalians to describe it, it is something so new and heretofore undreamed of in picture making, that it requires no absurd overstatements. It is what was heretofore thought beyond the camera's capacity to realize. The moving picture here reaches its apex. Yet, one might well think that when the critics, brought to life. And for its presentation in this city, "The Thief of Bagdad" will offer all the colorful atmospheric effects, a symphony orchestra, trained by the composer of the music; full scenic and stage effects, a band of Arabian musicians, with the instruments of their native country, as well as a Mohammedan Prayer Man. When "The Thief of Bagdad" is shown here, there will be brought into use all the late inventions of motion pictures, including Edison's newest high-tension lamps, as well as the newly invented silk and rubber screen. This latter device holds the illumination, with less reflection, providing a clearer picture than heretofore.

Seats for the balance of the engagement are being sold at Brunner's book store until 7:30 p. m. every day. After that hour the sale will be transferred to Convention Hall.
