SCHUYLERVILLE, N. Y., JULY 18, 1886.

MENTIONED LOCALLY.

—Tom Hanrahan is learning telegraphy at the depot.

—Of course you are going on the excursion next Tuesday.

—A considerable number from here visited the Albany bi-centennial during the week.

—The summer school at Saratoga Springs visited the monument and the village Saturday.

—The firm of Eastall & Snyder has dissolved. P. M. Snyder will continue the most market.

—Mrs. Dr. Doolittle's painting class occupies the rooms over the bank, as a studio, twice a week.

—I can assure you that a good friend of mine, Julia Watson at her home Saturday evening.

—Colic cost the life of one of George H. Bennett's horses Saturday. The animal was quite a valuable one.

—Rev. J. C. Fiske returned from his vacation in New England, and service was held at the Baptist church as usual on Sunday.

—The subject of one of the "floats" which were the feature of the bi-centennial at Albany Saturday night was the "Rebels of Burgoyne."

—Owing to a disappointment in securing the grounds, the Sunday school excursion announced last week has been postponed to the 2d of August.

—On account of the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. M. Webster composed the pulpit of the M. E. church Sunday morning. No services were held in the evening.

—Charles Brewer, known to the world as Simon Brewer, has secured an engagement with a large traveling museum. He will join it at Chagrin, Aug. 1.

—Rev. W. Chapman, of Albany, occupied the pulpit of the Reformed church last Sunday morning. While in town he was the guest of President Bulard and family.

—There was a box here last week which he calls "the box of the season." The circumference of one way is nine inches, the other way six and three-quarter inches; weight five pounds.

—"Birch Bark from the Adirondacks" is a handsome little guide to the Adirondack regions, bound with a clear imitation of the cost of the silver book.

—Outings are due D. H. Hall, mostly of this place, for a copy of the book.

—The Invincible of Fort Edward have arranged a series of three games with the Alerts, for the championship.

—Saratoga and Washington consist of two of the games will be played on the Alerts' grounds, the first one next Saturday.

—Alerts "hit up" the ball last Saturday. The papers there will probably conclude that the Monitors will need a little practice before they defeat the Little League crew. Now for the decisive game.

—From the Guardian, published at Guilderland, we clip the following:

Mr. Hiram Granger of Saratoga county, N. Y., who some years ago bought the Horse Hollow farm of 40 acres, in Dutchess county, has sold it to Mr. John Hart, of Hartfield, a son-in-law of Mr. Granger. Mr. Hart has three other farms in that township, containing nearly 400 acres of them together, and has recently sold one of them to Mr. Granger.

—Alvarez W. Duray and his daughter, Fannie, of New Durham, N. J., are visiting at the home of Mrs. Mary Duray, a daughter of a son-in-law, Philip E. Duray, who more than half a century ago was pastor of the Reformed church of this village for twenty-five years. During his stay here he married Mrs. Duray, and his relations who regularly visited at Greenwich, Wilton, Beacon Hill, Garrison, and other neighboring points; he is now a man of nearly seventy years of age. His son is a cordwainer, and his hearty welcome in his visit among us.

—A few weeks since, Stoffard House, of this place, was Schenectady, and about eight o'clock in the evening he left his hotel to go to Albany. When he got there he fell into an open cellar. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and was found to be badly bruised, one ankle being seriously sprained. He was taken to Albany, and was brought here to the hospital by his brother's, George House, on the Rogers place, across the river. It was learned that he had fallen into the cellar, and during that time the cellar had been left entirely exposed, close upon the street. A stranger in the city after hearing the story of the accident, said that he had never seen such a dangerous trap, and the city authorities would cert.ainly seem to be responsible for accidents that might arise from each neighbor in his visit among us.

—Little Howard De Belder was visiting with his mother in Saratoga Springs last Friday, and, left to himself for a time, he started down-town "to find papa." He procured a omnibus, and made his way to the central part of the city as far as the town hall, where a lady in passing noticed him and that he seemed to be alone, and asked where he was going. He told her he was looking for his father, who she called a policeman. The child's answers to their questions were unintelligible to them, and they finally concluded to ring the town bell so that his parents could hear him. The police came to the rescue, and the boy was soon found, and was overjoyed to see his heart burst back to childhood days when Robert was a boy.

—The party of fifteen ladies and gentlemen who left this village last Wednesday morning for Saratoga Springs, and the afternoon were in Saratoga, and were in the same boat as the party that went to the lake George, wrote that they are enjoying themselves very much. They state that they had a cold ride, and barely escaped a heavy shower by stopping at a house on the lake shore. For dinner they arrived at their journey's end about seven o'clock Thursday morning, tired and hungry. It is a winter that has had a severe grip on the country, and after feeding so many hungry persons, we expect to see them come home with faces and hands lovely tan; with bodies plump and healthy.

—The party consisted of the following: Misses Lizzie McMurray, Katie Dwyer, Eliza Sheehan, Edith Hornbrook, Edna Moore, Anna Dwyer, Alice McMurray, Jas. Kelley, Edith Kennedy, T. Sheehan, Fred Howland, Archie Kennedy, Edwin Dick.

—The Sunday school of the Methodist, Reformed, and Baptist churches and the Victory under Sunday School in town, in session at Williamsport, Aug. 3. At Williamsport the exhortants will repeat to a grave finality the words of the Master, "He that is not with me is against me."

—A gentleman from the Corlies steam engine works is here fixing up the old engine in the mill. We understand that they expect to have it running by Saturday night.

—Robert S. Atwell, with his daughter, Lizzie, and wife, Mrs. H. Atwell, left Thursday for Albany, where they enjoyed the sights at the bi-centennial for a couple of days. They then drove to Chatham, Mass., where they will remain until Saturday morning, when they will return home.
